Datta Meghe Institute of Medical Sciences, a Deemed University was granted this status by the University Grants Commission in 2005. It has been reaccredited with the Grade A grade by the National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC) for a period of five years in March 2013.

Thereafter, it was included in the elite Category A by the Ministry of HRD, Government of India amongst the Deemed Universities in the month of May 2013.

The University is also the recipient of the Dr. B.C. Roy Award for Research. Dr. Dilip Gode, an eminent Laparoscopic surgeon is the current Vice-Chancellor of the University.

The constituents of the Deemed University are located in a 125 acre campus in Sawangi (Meghe), Wardha about 80 kms from Nagpur, Maharashtra, India which is the geographic centre of India. It is located away from the hustle and bustle of the city amidst serene surroundings in a self sustaining complex with an excellent academic ambience.

It is very well connected by road, rail and air (via Nagpur) to all the major cities in the country. Nagpur has now become an international airport with direct flights from Sharjah and many more on the anvil in the near future.

The students welfare activities at this University is one of the top priorities for ensuring all types of students support and welfare on a continuing basis so that the students feel satisfied regarding the role of the University. According to the University, 'Welfare' literally means well being or organized efforts to ensure people's well being.

At any educational institution, students occupy a pivotal position and all activities revolve round them. Hence, the overall institutional ambience must reflect planned efforts for the welfare of its main stakeholder and the activities must not be just confined to narrow goals of achievements of desired academic standards but also incorporate conscious efforts directed towards overall welfare of the students.
