Gauhati University Institute of North East India Studies is located in the Gauhati University campus, which is situated a few kilometers away from Lokapriya Gopinath Bordoloi International Airport, Barjyar, Guwahati; nearest Railway Stations are Kamakhya and Guwahati which is also well connected by road transport. The Gauhati University Institute of North East India Studies was established on 1st February, 2010 with the aim of studying language, culture, communication, society etc. with an interdisciplinary approach. Research studies and several professional studies are the goal of the GUINEIS; G.U. The diversity of the region is worth studying with serious academic approach. The states of the North East India are located in very strategic point which can create immense possibilities for the nation in different dimensions as like cultural, political, social, trade and commerce, tourism etc. Systematic study of the language, culture, communication, society etc. of the region is important to fulfill its purposes. Therefore, GUINEIS is established as the platform for interdisciplinary research and also to conduct some of the time demanding courses suitable for the North East India region in particular and the nation in general.

Gauhati University is the premier institution of higher education being the first ever university of the region and being situated at heart city of the region. Therefore Gauhati University is the suitable place for pragmatic study of the North East region. The facilities to reach the direct field of study are easier from here. Studying North East India with scientific approach can overcome the developmental retardation of the region and also to pave the path for solving the conflict situations and restoration of peace and development in the North East India. With the emerging horizon of employability in the contemporary world, it is time bound need for creating various professional courses to suit the need and expectations of the students in North East India. Human resource development by promoting new generations to get engaged as skilled professionals in various fields can lead the north east India's younger generations to get involved more actively in the nation building process. Better chances of vocational education are to be created so as to engage their mindset in a positive developmental outlook. GUINEIS aims at creating such an environment in the entire North East India. Presently, 1year P.G.Diploma in Creative Writing and Translation Studies is offered by the institute. Several other courses as like P.G.Diploma in Media and Culture; P.G.Diploma in Bihu, Sattriya and Manipuri; P.G.Diploma in Theatre Studies etc. are to be initiated soon in the institute. The "Gauhati University Institute of North-East India Studies" is going to prove itself to be a leading institute for higher research in its field and ignite the minds of the scholars with true research zeal. It aims at providing its students; job oriented vocational and professional courses in excellence so that the outgoing students get satisfactory engagement in different professional fields in the ever expanding professional arenas.
